Give Back Leadership Summit

is one the prestigious and biggest representing forums for CSR in India for the year 2019. It is relevant for business, voluntary organization and all stakeholder.

CSR Act completing 5 Years on 1st April, 2019. On this occasion, India CSR Network will organize a day long mega India CSR Leadership Summit & Awards (Give Back Leadership Summit) in New Delhi on April 1st, 2019. It is a voluntary initiative, contributes in building healthy CSR ecosystem for public good and economic progress.

Powerful speakers representing top most CSR spending companies will share about their CSR practices, experience, knowhow, methodology impact that they have made in the society over the last 5 years.

RUSEN KUMAR
Founder
India CSR Network

It is great achievement for us that CSR Act is completing five years.

We believe that now Corporate Social Responsibility has become an integral part of business function in our country. CSR is a great contribution for positively impacting lives of underserved section of the society.

The India CSR Network will celebrate the spirit of collective Corporate Social Responsibility through a series of leadership deliberations and activities throughout the year, with dedicated topics to each pillar of progress as defined under the Act.

The Summit is a flag bearer of Corporate Social Responsibility in India. The forum will set new benchmarks and goals for the business responsibility on social change.

BACKGROUND

India is the first country that mandates corporate social responsibility. On 1st April, 2014, the Government implemented CSR Act requiring companies to spend 2% of their net profit on social development. CSR Law, Section 135, is a clause under Companies Act, 2013.

CSR Act mandates that every company having a net worth of Rs 500 crore or more, or a turnover of Rs 1,000 crore or more, or a net profit of Rs 5 crore or more during any financial year must constitute a CSR committee consisting of three or more directors, with at least one independent director, formulate a CSR policy for the company and recommend the expenditure to be incurred on CSR activities and at least 2% of the average net profit of the company made during three previous financial years must be spent on CSR activities.

Conceived to convey accountability in the business functioning and especially to improve the governance, the Act has become almost synonymous with 'GIVE BACK' for socio-economic development.

Why such a mega forum is required in India?

Corporates have shown tremendous interest on participating in development practices. This is one such forum for larger business houses to express their long term commitment and passion towards the nation building process.

Aligning of CSR to Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and larger Sustainability goals of business will also be discussed during the deliberations.

The importance of this forum is in the light of sequences after the introduction of the Companies Act as it has changed the CSR landscape by putting in place-legal provisions that have had a domino effect that includes better informed and sensitized stakeholders, and a development sector that has begun to align itself to accepting CSR funds from corporates. In the realm of Business Sustainability, SEBI has mandated Business Responsibility Reporting for top 500 listed companies based on their market capitalization from 1st April 2016. This move is an effort to improve governance practices and transparency in terms of reporting of socially responsible activities carried out by the business houses.
